Graham Quells Main Line All-Stars, 8-5

Narberth Ace Bats 1,000, Accounting For Four of Eight Runs.

IS HIS TENTH VICTORY

By John Uberti.

"Gene" Davis' enigmatic little boxman, Howard Graham, made an individual debut into the mythical Hall of Fame on Monday night, when he practically earned his own victory, to register his tenth win of the season, being responsible for four of the eight runs coigned and baffling the All-Stars with nine spaced-out hits. The score was 8-5.

Inasmuch as a pitcher is never reputed to be an assassin with the mace, Howard sprang a rare surprise to the small crowd of approximately three hundred by pecking at his rival, Finisadore, for a double crash in the second inning, scoring off Mulligan's hit, by propelling a buzzing aerial to deep centre for a triple, accounting for two runs, and by tallying his third hit and fourth run from a single to centre, when he crossed the plate in the last inning off Martin's bingle to centre-field. His average never fluctuated and showed a unique 1.000 at the termination of activities in the sixth inning.

However, the diminutive grenadier who now holds pitching laurels of the Narberth staff with Masters close behind was forced to extend himself in the waning minutes of the conflict and, as a result, won much praise in the last inning when he extricated himself out of a threatening attack to quell the bid for a rally like a veteran of the majors. Seven men faced Howard in the first two innings, during which time he allowed only one hit, while Narberth took the lead in the home half when Heckle crossed off Martin's single to left.

Narberth's lead, augmented in the second canto when the Davismen bunched two hits for a lone marker, but both teams started a flare-up in the subsequent session. The All-Stars knotted the count by coining two runs as they bothered McMonagle for three hits. One down, Finisadore singled to left, but McMonagle forced him off second. When Faulk singled, McMonagle went to the hot-box, but Brother McMonagle strolled to jam the bases. Doyle, of the Berwyn Club, dispatched a single far enough to permit both McMonagle and Faulk to canter home.

Nevertheless, the deadlock was short-lived, as Narberth splashed four hits about the green to tally as many runs and take a lead which was never thereafter surpassed, although dangerously threatened. Thomas walked for the second time and Curwin singled to the infield as did Nick Lyons to pack the corners. Young singled over short-stop, Thomas and Curwin coming home. Graham came to bat for the second time, having doubled and scored one run in the previous inning, and stretched a propellant swat over the centre-fielder's reach for three bases, accounting for runs by Lyons and Young. The bases were crammed for the second time this inning when Heckle and Mulligan occupied the sacks, but Gillfillan grounded out to Finisadore for the third out.

Graham checked the advancement of the All-Star Club in the fourth and fifth, allowing but two hits, while the champions went scoreless in the fourth and marked up two runs from three nicks in the home half of the last inning.

Graham dribbled a comber past the keystone out to centre-field, but Heckle popped to the "backstop." Mulligan singled and when Martin clicked his second hit of the game for one base to centre-field, Graham carried his fourth run over the disc, Mulligan quickly following on the catcher's blunder. Gillfillan let four wild ones go by and walked leisurely to the initial hassock and Curwin was chucked out, G. McMonagle to George Graham.

Chinese Honor Dead at Old Merion Graveyard

A caravan of taxicabs bearing several hundred Chinese from Philadelphia wended its way on Sunday to the old Merion Cemetery off State Road on the wooded hills back of Narberth and Cynwyd where row after row of Chinese graves dot the hillside.

The occasion was the celebration of Ching Ming—the semi-annual Decoration Day of China, which takes the form of memorial rites to the departed. Incense sticks were lighted and prayers written on red paper in Chinese characters were set aflame. Libations of wine, roast meat and rice were placed on some graves, but not all.

A few conservatives wore the loose flowing garments of old China, but for the most part they were dressed in the latest thing in summer suits and straw hats.

Fires were lighted in the little brick ovens on the hillside and there were burned offerings of garments, food and prayers. Then the caravan started back to that section of Philadelphia where carved balconies of restaurants, show windows filled with Chinese herbs and foods make a bit of China in the heart of the city.

Rotarians Play Bridge and Golf

Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Club Varies Program at Valley Forge.

WIVES ENJOYED AFFAIR

Blessed by perfect weather, the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club chose the Valley Forge Golf Club as the scene of their meeting Tuesday. Many of the wives of the members were present.

During the afternoon golf and bridge were the attractions. A large part of the male contingent chased the little white pill around the links with varying degrees of success, while at the club house several tables of bridge were in progress.

In the evening a sumptuous repast, without speeches, completed the day. President W. Russell Green presided, introducing the guests and welcoming the Rotary wives. Dr. William L. Martin, chairman of the Program Committee, made a brief address of welcome.

Prizes were awarded by Ralph S. Dunne, who was in charge of the day's entertainment. Bridge awards went to Mrs. Edward Sullivan, Mrs. Fred W. Smith and Mrs. E. S. Deubler. Horace T. Smedley captured the golf prize. The award in the latter case was determined by letting each player choose his own handicap, with the winner declared the one who came nearest in score to a number drawn from a hat. That gave experts and dubs an even chance at the prize.

The following Rotarians, guests and wives were seated at the table:

Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Hoffman, Dr. and Mrs. Fred W. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Van Vliet, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mackenzie, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Dunne, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Green, Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Smedley, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Shand, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Guy Croyle, Rev. Frank M. Gray and Mrs. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Keim, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Decker, Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Deubler, J. A. Miller, B. J. Wooley, C. J. Albrecht, A. E. Shull, W. H. Fowler, J. W. Murray, J. W. Longstreth, W. S. Howard, F. P. Kroner, P. A. Livingston, A. C. Miller, R. T. Watrous.

Rescue Efforts Fail to Save 2 in Cave-In

With picks and shovels, Lower Merion police and Bryn Mawr firemen worked furiously in relays for a half-hour last Thursday in a vain attempt to dig out two workmen caught in a trench collapse. The men, John Mead and Sylvester Burr, both were dead from suffocation when rescuers reached them.

The workmen, both Negroes, of Sharon Hill, had been digging a sewer trench on the estate of Henry Ellison, Jr., at Montgomery Avenue and Broun Lane, Villanova, together with Willie Jones, negro, also of Sharon Hill.

Jones went to a truck for another shovel. When he returned he found the trench, twelve feet deep and two feet wide, had caved in on his mates.

Two Hurt, Antiques Lost in Barn Fires

Early Morning Blazes Break Out on Brown and Lussion Estates.

SUSPECT INCENDIARISM

A collection of valuable antique vehicles, including tallyhos and stagecoaches, was destroyed in one of two barn fires in this section early Saturday. Both are believed to have been of incendiary origin.

The prize antiques were the collection of James Crosby Brown, banker, and were stored in a large two-story stone and frame barn on his estate on Ardmore Road, Gladwyne, a mile from his home on Mill Creek Road, Ardmore.

B. F. Englebert, caretaker of the estate, who lives adjoining the barn, was burned painfully on the hands while leading three pedigreed horses from the building and aiding other employees in saving some of the valuable relics.

Thomas Brown, a fireman of the Merion Fire Company of Ardmore, was rescued by comrades after he was found unconscious from smoke while fighting the flames. He and Englebert were treated at Bryn Mawr Hospital.

Lower Merion and Haverford Township police suspect arson, as the flames were found to have started in the roof of the building, and a motor car was seen by witnesses speeding away just before the fire was discovered.

Mr. Brown and his family are spending the summer at Nantucket. The exact amount of damage will not be known until Mr. Brown makes an inventory of his collection.

Less than two hours later a large barn on the estate of Louis Olry Lussion, at Ardmore Avenue and Cooperstown Road, Haverford, was partly destroyed by fire which police say was caused by a vagrant.

To Attend Legion Convention

John A. Mowrer, Jr., will attend the State Convention of the American Legion to be held at Scranton Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 29, 30 and 31, of next week as the official delegate of the Harold D. Speakman Post, of Narberth. He will be accompanied by Allen E. Shubert, Robert C. Collins and Roland K. Hewitt, who attend in an unofficial capacity. The auxiliary will be represented by Mrs. R. K. Hewitt as its official delegate and by Mrs. E. H. Wipf.

Settles For Farm House

Raymond S. Jones has made settlement for a Colonial style farm house at 407 Wynmore Road, Wynnewood, recently purchased from W. Gordon Smith and held at $40,000.

Narberth Thwarts Media Rally to Win

Graham Relieves Lyons on the Mound and Avoids Threatening Rally.

By John Uberti.

Nick Lyons, of Lower Merion baseball fame and strikeout king of the Narberth Club, gave the Davismen their twelfth win in twenty games when he came one run shy of his own strike-out record of eleven by crushing ten Media batsmen to ensnare one of the hardest-fought games of the season by the billiard score of 11-10. This was the second time the locals have defeated the Media Club this year. But even an enigmatic pitcher will have his unsteady moments. In this instance Nicky had his when he permitted six men to walk and hit a few by untethering wild heaves, giving the vanquished the gross sum of ten hits. Glaring errors on the part of both clubs made the contest an evenly-matched game when Narberth amassed eight, the same number that cost them a game against Newtown Square during the activities of the second half, while Media gathered five.

Media was up first in the opener and coined a run off Gillfillan's conspicuous transgression, but the champions took the lead with four runs in the Narberth half. An error put Heckle on and Mulligan sacrificed him to the keystone. Fleck singled to centre, scoring Heckle, and Gillfillan singled to right. When Martin uncorked a noisy double to left-field, Fleck and Martin cantered over the plate. Humphreys blanked, Thomas walked and Young scored Martin on an infield safety. Lyons fell on strikes.

Fireside Reporter Finds Many Residents Home From Vacations—Visiting Continues Strong

Mid-August finds many of our residents returning to their homes after having spent enjoyable weeks motoring to northern points or having taken advantage of the cool, clear skies and the radiant beaches at the seashore resorts. And the mountains, from all accounts, have claimed their share of the vacationers also. And yet, many are still going away or remaining at the various resorts where one can find the season still gaily in progress.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Wood Easby and their children are spending the summer at Strathmere, N. J.

Mrs. Charles M. Evans, Jr., who opened her cottage at Avalon early in June, will remain until late in September.

Mrs. A. G. Compton, of Hampden Avenue, is visiting Mrs. Durbin at her cottage in Avalon. Mrs. Compton's daughter, Anne, arrived home recently after a month's visit with friends in Ohio. This week Anne has as her house guest Miss Helen Brookhart, of Baltimore.

The E. H. Cockrills just arrived at the home after a two weeks' motor trip. And, too, the John H. Stalrads, who have been traveling out West, visiting in Minneapolis, Milwaukee and Chicago, have just returned and are having as their guest for a few days Miss Marion Plitt, of Altoona.

Miss Marguerite Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Campbell, has just returned home after spending the past three weeks at Buck Hill Falls. Her sister, Miss Agnes Campbell, is spending a fortnight in New York, and her brother, Mr. Joseph Campbell, is traveling in Canada for two weeks.

Miss Jane Alexander, of Brookhurst Avenue, has just returned to her home after a three weeks' stay at Amityville, Long Island, N. Y.

Miss Susan G. Baker, of Anthwyn Road, is a guest at the Seaside Hotel in Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Elwood have been visiting for this past week Mrs. Elwood's sister, Mrs. Albert H. Nulty, of Meeting House Lane, at Cape May. Tomorrow they will leave for the Poconos, where they expect to stay until after Labor Day.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Cabrey and family, of Narbrook Park, are passing a delightful summer at Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Blessing are staying for a fortnight at Margate City, N. J.

Wales Trent, of the Avon, is staying in the Blue Ridge Mountains, near Culpepper, Va.

And we hear that Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Basler are at Mt. Tremper, N. Y., from where they will leave shortly to spend a week at Wildwood, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Funk and family spent the week with Mr. Funk's brother-in-law in Gettysburg.

Mrs. C. T. Faries, of Aubrey Road, Wynnewood, has as her guest Mrs. Elwood Jones, of New Rochelle, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Hongler, of Merion Avenue, will leave tomorrow for an extended trip through Nova Scotia, Canada and the New England States.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Darville are now occupying their new home on Warwick Road, Minden Manor, Wynnewood.

Mrs. Mary C. Cheyne and her son, Henry C. Cheyne, of East Aurora, N. Y., are now making their home at 201 Merion Avenue.

Old Forge Walls Are Uncovered at Valley Forge

More evidence of the two Revolutionary forges along Valley Creek in Valley Forge have recently been discovered by diggers. The men, who have been excavating for nearly three weeks, have found more walls at the upper location, just above the Washington Spring, on the Chester County side of the creek.

Here were found also parts of a hearth, but the accounts of the old forge give four hearths as the number used.

Two posts, burned right down to the stone foundation, were uncovered, with several remains of heavy oak planks that had been badly burned.

Members of the Valley Forge Commission are keeping in lively touch with the progress of the excavations, because on the results of this work will depend largely the decision as to where they will place the Hay Creek forge purchased some time ago.

Isaac W. Pennypacker, president of the Commission, has returned to his Ardmore home from northwestern Pennsylvania, and is keenly interested in the daily reports he is receiving from Superintendent Shea.

Seven-Run Rally in Sixth Routs Berwyn

Masters Helps Win His Own Game With Six Assists and Two of the Eight Runs.

By John Uberti.

Riding atop the crest of the championship wave upon which they took sole sway of the Main Line League supremacy a week ago by trouncing Newtown Square, Narberth increased its formidable lead to two games over the other three participants of the league, jolting Berwyn for the fifth consecutive time this season.

Narberth won the game by virtue of a seven-run spurge in the lucky sixth, bunching a triple at the prowess of Walter Masters, a double by Fleck, three singles and a timely pass to overwhelm the Doyle Nursery boys eight runs to two. Berwyn went into a triple tie with the other two clubs through the defeat.

Walt Masters and Vernie Fleck were mainly instrumental in subduing the Western nine, who outthit the locals eight to seven, but who failed to exit triumphant when the vigilant sentinels of the infield executed sixteen masterly assists to leave nine runners stranded on the bases.

Masters, who scored his sixth victory of the year and has only one loss to his name, aided materially in the fabrication of the seven-run rally in the sixth, scoring two of them by emptying the lanes with his ferocious triple smash and carrying one over the disc himself.

Vernie played a conspicuous role both with the bludgeon and out on the greensward in centre-field. Out of

The Tragedy in Our Midst

There is probably no resident in the borough who is not aware of the tragic occurrence which took place at 409 Woodside Avenue last week, thanks to the publicity which the Philadelphia and New York papers have seen fit to give it.

That such a thing should happen to a young woman of exceptional promise is sad enough, but that such reams of type should be printed in the newspapers is disgusting.

That this case has been reported so fully reflects of course on the public taste. But it also reflects little credit on the present tendency of the daily press.

The sympathy of the community goes out to the family of the dead girl and, together with all decent people, it regrets that they have been made the centre of so much publicity.

A Fine Record

As a library's usefulness is indicated by the extent of its circulation so may the service of a playground be measured to some degree at least by the number of children attending.

Application of this test to Narberth's playgrounds is very gratifying. According to statistics given out this week 6202 children have attended either the School Playground or the Community Playground this summer from July 7 to August 20. The average daily attendance at both playgrounds has been 194 children.

The success of the playgrounds this summer may be attributed to two factors. There is working behind the borough's playground work a newly-organized Recreation Board, and to Dr. King and his fellow-workers goes much credit for their energetic and persistent attack on a difficult problem.

Even the best plans though may go to naught for lack of adequate carrying out. The School Board, in whose hands it lay, are to be congratulated on selecting a man of the calibre of Allan B. Weatherall to direct the recreation work. Mr. Weatherall's job is an all-year-round one, at the school and playgrounds, and the start he has made on it this summer augurs well for the future.

The interest manifested by the youngsters of the borough, both boys and girls, is moreover in striking contrast to last season when a meager handful of children could be seen wondering what to do. Much credit is also due to the young women teachers at the school who have rendered such able assistance on both playgrounds.

Birthday Party

Mr. Edwin Speakman, of Hampden Avenue, was surprised as he entered his twentieth year last Wednesday evening when several of his friends "popped up" to wish him a happy birthday. They all spent a thoroughly enjoyable evening playing bridge. Refreshments and favors were charmingly served. Edwin's mother, Mrs. Clarence Speakman, arranged the party. The guests were the Misses Louise Smedley, Gladys Graver, Ethel Lawton, Elsie Lawton, Marjorie Talley, Mary Speakman and Dorothy Speck, and the Messrs. John Hanlick, Richard and John Lewis, Martin Talley, Harry Dountel, Charles Henry and Edwin Speakman.

Whooping Cough Decreases

New cases of whooping cough were much fewer than the report for past weeks, when this week but four new patients were listed in Lower Merion Township. Four more tuberculosis cases were reported, with one case of erysipelas in the Bala-Cynwyd district, a low total of nine contagion cases in the township.

YESTERDAY I phoned the JEDDO-HIGHLAND COAL COMPANY about certain coal shipments and after getting the desired information I said: "How is business with you this summer?" Their reply amazed me; this is what they said:

"Just fine; in fact, we've been so busy we have not lost a working day since July 20, 1928, and we've put very little coal in storage." This, to my mind, is a remarkable showing, and is a good reply to the rumors you sometimes hear about the declining market for Anthracite Coal and how many coal mines are not operating more than a few days a month.

JEDDO-HIGHLAND is sweeping the field.

the public today spends more thought in choosing the products they use, and that is why they are buying coal for the high amount of carbon it contains and the low quantity of ash.

UNCLE CY'S COLUMN

The Questionnaire
The staff of the papers seems to be interested in last week's questionnaire. One of the young editors attempted to answer them verbally and got 25 correct, not a very good average for a well-informed young man, but one of the young women had only 17 1/3 right. Perhaps they are too stiff. What did you think?

It is surprising how much well-informed people who read the public prints and advertisements forget and how little of the vast fund of human knowledge is retained by any one of us.

Incidentally, there was a grievous typographical error in the quotation from Shakespeare in Question No. 48. The linotype operator gave us "mouth" for "youth" in the remark:

"For never in my youth did I apply Hot and rebellious liquors to my blood."

It occurs to me that it might be interesting to have a series of questions on advertising slogans to see how many people read these messages. Here are ten. Can you identify them?

1. Four out of every five have it.
 2. Ask the man who owns one.
 3. Mild, but they satisfy.
 4. Eventually, why not now?
 5. What a whale of a difference just a few cents make.
 6. Good to the last drop.
 7. Let your pup be your furnace nap.
 8. Time to retire.
 9. Only a child will tell you.
 10. Keep that schoolgirl complexion.
- You see, there is really no limit to this sort of thing, and it's more or less like the old game of "You have a face" that we used to play at home in my boyhood. The group about a dinner table select an initial, such as "M," and start. My mother would turn to me and say, "My son, you have a face." "What kind of face, Mother?"

"A marvelous face."

Then I'd tell my sister that she had a malicious face, and on we'd go with malevolent, muddy, maudlin, messy, misanthropic, monkey, mediocre, mad, masculine, maidenly and all sorts of other faces till eventually our vocabularies would run out and we'd stop or go to another letter.

Library Circulation Shows Gratifying Increase

The Librarian's report for the month of July shows an increase in the circulation of books of 1113 over that of July in 1928; the total for the month then being 2470, while for this year it is 3583. This seems to all those interested in the progress of the Library to be a most gratifying indication of the increased service which the Library has been able to render the public of Narberth under the new arrangement of a professional librarian and longer hours of opening. That this increase should occur in the summer, when circulation frequently falls off, is only another indication that the Library has not yet reached its limit, but is headed for still more distant goals.

The Library statistician was heard to reveal these figures to a recognized accountant who allowed himself one minute of enthusiastic response before asking just how the increase of this year compared with that of last. This requiring too great a knowledge of mathematics, as well as of other subjects, the statistician ignored the comparison entirely by hastily reeling off tables of circulation figures for each month of 1929, showing the circulation for the year from January through July to be 23,365, which was almost the total for the entire year in 1927.

The Library at such a time always emphasizes the fact that it is not working with a large total of circulation in mind, but when by extending its hours of opening, increasing its service and placing a professional librarian in charge, it makes it possible for the citizens of Narberth to use the Library to greater advantage than at such a time figures become a symbol of significant importance.

Henry, who scored both of the alien two runs, was first man up in the fifth and splashed a tidy single to port for the fourth hit of the game. Eachus succumbed on strikes, but Hampshire, once of the local cast, promoted him to second from his sacrifice bunt and Wagner's single shipped in the star second-baseman.

The Davismen responded to "Gene" Davis' orders of battle in the subsequent inning by sending the line-up into its second round to earn their third straight league victory. Burns singled to right and reached the key-stone as Wagner threw Fleck out on first. Gillfillan walked and Masters thumped a rollicking triple, which soared high of second, Burns and Gillfillan crossing. Babb singled, Walt counting and Martin walked. Mulligan had an easy time gaining possession of the initial base when Baker juggled his grounder and George dashed across with the fourth run of the inning off Curwin's bid for a single, Martin following right behind when Henry delayed Heckle's grounder to the plate a trifle too late to head him off. Burns came to bat for the second time this inning, but was permitted to get on as "Bing" scooped up his bounder and threw to Danny Hampshire, who nailed Mulligan at the pentagon on fielder's choice. Fleck doubled to rightfield, Curwin and Heckle scoring.

Henry gave the visitors another run in the seventh by counting off a passed ball while the locals fell victims to a double killing to end the activities in the home half. Berwyn's bid for a rally was cleverly thwarted in the eighth and subsequent frames when three runners were left on the coigns.
